REPORT OF THE GENERAL COUNCIL.

THE General Council view with satisfaction the work of the Fund during the past year as shown by the Reports of the several Committees appended hereto.

It will be seen that the general policy adopted at the inauguration of the undertaking has been continued, and while money has not been hoarded unnecessarily, the total distributed has left a balance on the right side. The receipts for 1899 are £48,536. 15s. 4d., as against £39,272. 3s. 5d. of the previous year.

This result the Council consider highly satisfactory under the peculiar circumstances of the year. This is more especially the case, seeing that in view of the exceptional claims upon the public the Committee decided not to make the usual autumn appeal.

It is, however, a noteworthy fact that of all the sums received not one has been in the form of a legacy, although the Hospitals themselves derive a large proportion of their incomes from this source. But now that the Fund is proved to have come to stay, it is hoped that exceptions to this rule may be introduced from outside the ranks of existing subscribers.

The total sum distributed for 1899 amounted to £42,000. Of this sum £26,250 has been given as annual grants, and the balance as donations. It will be seen that in the majority of cases the grants have been given on certain conditions.

The cost of management and collection is about $3\frac{3}{4}$ per cent., as compared with about $6\frac{1}{4}$ for 1898.

As stated by His Royal Highness the President, improvement is evident from the fact that the receipts are larger and the expenses smaller. There has been no clashing with the work of either the Sunday or Saturday Funds, and the promise given to that effect has been kept.

Subscribers may be interested to know that most of the surplus copies of the Jubilee Programme printed for the benefit of the Fund have been given to London Hospitals, Board Schools, Workhouse Infirmarys, and other institutions.

In the Report of the Hospitals Distribution Committee it will be noted that a distinction is drawn, in those cases in which grants are withheld, between the ten institutions which, though favourably reported on, did not at the end of last year appear to be in urgent need of further help, and the three which were not deemed to be Hospitals in the true sense of the word. This distinction is drawn by the advice of the Visiting Committee, and in accordance with requests frequently published in the public press.

The effect of the work for the year is that, in addition to improvements in Operating Theatres or Rooms, Nurses' accommodation, Sanitary and other requirements, 45 more disused beds will be re-opened and maintained; making a total of 287 re-opened in the last three years through the help of this Fund. Rather more still remain closed, but in many of these instances the beds could not easily be re-opened at the present time.

In some Hospitals the vacant wards are used for pay patients, and thus fulfil a useful purpose, which makes it desirable to defer the consideration of re-opening these beds as free. In others they are used for nurses, and if they are devoted to their intended purposes fresh accommodation must be provided for nurses. In still harder cases the debts of the Hospitals must be liquidated before any fresh liabilities are incurred.

In the course of the present Session a Petition will be presented to Parliament by the Central Hospital Council, calling attention to the heavy rating of Hospitals. In support of this, on behalf of the Fund, a Petition has been forwarded in accordance with the instructions of the Executive Committee, expressing the sympathy of all concerned, and their desire to see the rating of all recognised London Hospitals abolished.

It may now be considered that the expenses of the Fund have been reduced to a minimum. Every care is taken that the money subscribed be wisely spent. Therefore the General Council would earnestly request all interested in the cause to support the Fund in this present year, when the Hospitals will be called upon to admit the wounded, and when more than ever public charity is apt to turn from the sufferers at home to those abroad.

Demands must shortly be made on the Hospitals not only for their increasing number of patients, but especially this year for soldiers and sailors returning from South Africa in need of good nursing and tender care.

In conclusion, the Council confidently appeal to all their generous supporters, including the press, to aid them in maintaining the established and successful position of the Fund.

REPORT OF THE HOSPITALS DISTRIBUTION COMMITTEE.

The past year has been one of increased usefulness of the Fund.

The Hospitals concerned have been again visited by Sub-Committees consisting of medical men of wide experience, and laymen who take special interest in Hospital management. These visitations, while they have admirably answered their immediate object of supplying reliable information regarding the merits and needs of the various institutions, have proved of very high value in stimulating improvements, both in construction and in all departments of administration. Defects have been pointed out, and their remedy has been powerfully promoted by making the grants from the Fund conditional upon the carrying out of the measures that have been recommended.

The suggestions made by the Visitors have been almost invariably received in a most friendly spirit, and new interest has been often aroused in those more immediately concerned in the several Hospitals, leading them to increase their own subscriptions, or to promote in other ways by their individual exertions the needed improvements.

The importance of the services rendered by the Fund has been more generally recognised by the public, so that the sum available for distribution to Hospitals this year shows a considerable increase upon last year's amount; the figures being £41,000 now, as compared with £31,500 in the previous twelvemonth.

It is anticipated that the League of Mercy, instituted a year ago by His Royal Highness, will in due time greatly benefit the Fund; but the Committee can at present only advise the employment of £1,000 from that source, this being the amount which had been actually paid in when this year's distribution was arranged.

It is recommended that the additional £9,500 now at the disposal of the Fund be employed partly in the way of donations and partly as annual grants, which are necessary when money is given for the important purpose of opening closed wards, for which continuous maintenance must be provided.

It has been arranged that 45 beds now unoccupied will be brought into use next year; these, added to those thrown open during the last two years, give 287 as the number made available to the poor of the metropolis by the agency of the Fund.

The details of the grants and donations recommended for this year are added.

REPORT OF THE CONVALESCENT HOSPITALS COMMITTEE.

As the fund at the disposal of the Committee is small, and restricted by a special trust, the Committee have considered it best to select only a few Homes, and recommend them for fairly substantial donations.

They recommend the following Grants :—
